ABSTRACT

More than a health HIV is a social, gender and a human right issue. Tackling discrimination against women is central to the AIDS response. Globally, HIV is still the leading cause of death of women of reproductive age and contributes to at least 20 percent of maternal death. 1 Young women aged 15 to 24 have HIV infection rates twice as high as young men. Currently, women form 31.2% of the estimated 2.47 million people living with HIV/AIDS (NACO, 2007).

Introduction

There are clear differences in men's and women's experience with getting access to the treatment of HIV/AIDS. Biological factors make women and girls more vulnerable to HIV infection. Socio-cultural and structural factors, such as poverty, harmful cultural practices, limited decision-making power, lack of control over financial resources, restricted mobility, violence, limited educational opportunities, and lack of equality in sexual and reproductive health services.

Materials

Must add materials in your article .

A Good Materials :-

Materials may be accounted for in a different passage or else they may be distinguished alongside your systems. Inc or supplies that are not generally found in research centers.

Result

Must add result in your article.

A Good Result :-

Results are as per aims and objective and useful to further research .

Conclusion

This study focuses on NGO's role in protecting basic Human Right to get proper treatment and reproductive health of the WLHA. The analysis shows that their families refuse to give them medical help and treatment. But the NGO's volunteers help them in protecting their right to access to health care services.

A Good Conclusion :-

Thus, the research have wider scope for new academician and research scholars.
