ABSTRACT

Many studies have shown that socioeconomic status is the main cause of inequality among students in schools and other educational systems. The most significant reason of this is that a person's education is clearly linked to their life chances, income and well-being. The impact of the parent's socioeconomic status on their child's educational achievement has been of great concern to many researchers especially in the field of sociology.

Introduction

In this era of globalization and technological revolution, education is considered as a first step for every human activity. It plays a vital role in the development of human capital and is linked with an individual's well-being and opportunities for better living (Battle & Lewis, 2002).

A Good Introduction :-

Importance of the expected results to the general inquiry. Extremely briefly depict the exploratory configuration and how it achieved the expressed destinations.

Materials

Must add materials in your article .

A Good Materials :-

Materials may be accounted for in a different passage or else they may be distinguished alongside your systems. Inc or supplies that are not generally found in research centers.

Result

Must add result in your article .

A Good Result :-

Results are as per aims and objective and useful to further research .

Conclusion

It is suggested that keeping in view of the factors mentioned above care and interest may be taken in respect of parents' education, economic background and their motivation. It is also suggested that proper steps may be taken in the appointment of specialized teachers. Due care should be given to students' needs, performance, aspirations, interests, capacity, capability, motivation level etc.

A Good Conclusion :-

Thus, the research have wider scope for new academician and research scholars.
