ABSTRACT

Teaching has never been an easy task. Each faculty will have his or her unique style of facilitating concepts and practices in the classroom. But of age, though the methods employed to convey and communicate with the students might have changed, still the major challenge is to deliver the knowledge in the simplest and easiest manner. With the introduction of technology in all walks of life, it has entered into the education sector as well. In our paper, we have tried to understand the contribution of technology in the teaching arena.
