ABSTRACT:

The TITLE matches with the contents of the paper Decentralization or decentralisation is the process of redistributing or dispersing functions, powers, people or things away from a central location or authority. While centralization, especially in the governmental sphere, is widely studied and practiced, there is no common definition or understanding of decentralization. The meaning of decentralization may vary in part because of the different ways it is applied. Concepts of decentralization have been applied to group dynamics and management science in private businesses and organizations

INTRODUCTION:

Author introduced the topic neatly and clearly Decentralisation and community driven management acquire special importance in the context of the ongoing process of globalisation and associated economic reforms. While the process of globalisation acts in ways in which the market acquires supremacy to the detriment of people who lose control over their livelihood patterns as well as other choices, the process of decentralisation could act as a countervailing force enabling people to acquire control over decisions that influence their lives in critical areas.

METHODOLOGY:

Author has not mentioned any specific methodology. This study was descriptive in nature. Must add methodology in your article. Methodology used to per research topic.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text Democratic decentralisation has received wider acceptance, in recent years, as a strategy for deepening democracy by facilitating popular participation as well as growth with allocational efficiency. It also has the potential to make participation more 'inclusive' by way of higher participation of the marginalized sections of society and thereby increased allocation of resources in their favour. It can also ensure better local governance through enhanced accountability of public officials.

REFERENCES:

Prior publication by the author(s) of substantial portions of the data or study was appropriately acknowledged.

RELEVANCE:

The paper is properly organized and demands appreciation. I think the paper will satisfy the interest of the readers.
