REVIEW OF THE ARTICLE

A Study On Socio Economic And Health Statues Of Senior Citizen In Villupuram District

E. Kandeepan¹ and Dr. A. Annadurai²

ABSTRACT:

The TITLE matches with the contents of the paper The Senior Citizen in the rural areas of India was suffering due to separation or loneliness resulting from urbanization and emergence or increase of nuclear families. Within the elderly population individuals differ, not only in their socio-demographic, economic and health characteristics, but also by their gender roles in various aspects of life. This paper explores the gender differences of the rural elderly population in their socio-demographic, economic and health characteristics in Villupuramdistrict, Tamil Nadu.

INTRODUCTION:

Author introduced the topic neatly and clearly Senior Citizens are a treasure to our society. They work hard all these years for the development of the nation as well as the community, but ageing of population is a major aspect of the process of demographic transition. Ageing is a fact that in many ways the aged suffers a lot in the fag end of their life. The reason for the same may be different and many folded. Whatever be the reason for this situation, it is a fact that there are aged persons who are dissatisfied with life.

METHODOLOGY:

This study was conceptual in nature. Author described a variable under study in detail. The Villupuramdistrct has been chosen for the study. The rationale behind selecting this district is that the share of the elderly in the district is closer (8.5%) to that of Tamil Nadu (8.8%). This district is an average district in most of the demographic, socio-economic and health characteristics.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text Most of the elderly were in the age-group 60-69 years, where more males were older and more females were old, which indicates the males' higher age than the females. More males were married and more females were widowed, which indicates women live longer than men.

REFERENCES:

Prior publication by the author(s) of substantial portions of the data or study was appropriately acknowledged.

RELEVANCE:

The paper is properly organized and demands appreciation. I think the paper will satisfy the interest of the readers.
