REVIEW OF THE ARTICLE

Sustainability Issues In Small And Medium Enterprise Hospitals Of India

Basavaraj Gaddigal<sup>1</sup> and Dr. Ramesh .R Kulkarni<sup>2</sup>

ABSTRACT:

The TITLE matches with the contents of the paper The Indian health care sector is paving way towards prospective growth in the next decade. Indian health care sector is growing at the rapid speed as that of Indian population. The growing population demands not only the more food, clothing and shelter but also healthcare and health insurance. According to the report by the planning committee of India (Planning Commission, GOI, 2012-2017).

INTRODUCTION:

Author introduced the topic neatly and clearly Indian health care sector is growing at the rapid speed as that of Indian population. The growing population demands not only the more food, clothing and shelter but also healthcare and health insurance. Since India is largely a rural and semi urban composed state, has been witnessing shortage of quality health care units i.e Hospitals. The Indian health sector system includes public and private hospitals as well as specialised traditional Indian system of treatment namely Ayurvedic, Unani and Homeopathy.

METHODOLOGY:

Author has not mentioned any specific methodology. This study was descriptive in nature. Must add methodology in your article. Methodology used to per research topic.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text This review call for an urgency for the Indian health care sector which is considered as a thrust area to induce sustainability measures in their social, environmental and economical operations. With such a huge presence it becomes important for all these hospitals to induce sustainability measures in their operations. Because it is increasingly clear that climate change is not only a phenomenon but a reality which is threatening to the very existence of the mankind on the earth.

REFERENCES:

Prior publication by the author(s) of substantial portions of the data or study was appropriately acknowledged.

RELEVANCE:

The paper is properly organized and demands appreciation. I think the paper will satisfy the interest of the readers.
