REVIEW OF THE ARTICLE

Moral Values And Equality In Society

Ven Pannajota

ABSTRACT:

The problem statement was clear and well articulated The moral values and equality are closely related to each other. The moral values are brought into being by man's conduct. The appearance of the moral basis in society brought into being a sort of moral code of a different kind. It is important for the man-kind. These include man's general moral standards and the finest creations of literature and art. The ethical structure of each society is very complex.

INTRODUCTION:

The introduction provides a good, generalized background of the topic that quickly gives the reader an appreciation The Buddhist ethical system sets up the service of one's fellowmen as the ultimate human goal. It holds that the individual can find his own highest goal in working for the good of all. In the Buddhist ethics is the only dependable guide to truth. The moral is the basis of all right understanding. The Buddha laid an emphasis on responsibility, individual and social. He inspired people for attaining the highest achievement in life. The great value of Buddhism, in the present situation, peace and righteousness, among the peoples of the world.

METHODOLOGY:

Author has not mentioned any specific methodology. This study was descriptive in nature. Must add methodology in your article. Methodology used to per research topic.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text Finally, as may be seen from the foregoing, Buddhist moral principles are very noble and in an ideal world their practice would lead to peace and harmony but, unfortunately, as the Buddha has taught, people are motivated by greed, hatred and delusion - even Buddhists. Basically, according to Buddhist teachings, the ethical and moral principles are governed by examining whether a certain action, whether connected to body or speech is likely to be harmful to one's self or to others and thereby avoiding any actions which are likely to be harmful. In Buddhism, there is much talk of a skilled mind.
