Child Labour In Developed And Developing Countries: An Analysis

Dr. Mohd. Raufa

ABSTRACT:

The problem statement was clear and well articulated The children are the asset and the future of the nations. Therefore, it is the duty of all nations to ensure that every child gets suitable nutrition to develop. But the nations have miserably failed to arrange even the basic necessities of life. The Children are subjected to work at a early age when they require the utmost love, affection, care and proper education. They become the direct victims of the existing exploitative set up of the society.

INTRODUCTION:

The introduction provides a good, generalized background of the topic that quickly gives the reader an appreciation The children are the greatest gift of "GOD" to the humanity. They are the messengers of our ideologies, thoughts, knowledge and cultural heritage. Hidden in their innocence is the greatest potential of Scientists, Philosophers, Rulers, Administrators, Engineers, Doctors, Statesmen or the best citizen ready to serve the nation and even to dedicate their lives if need so arises. Laid in them is the foundation of the Nation and therefore, the future and stability of a society depends on the quality of its Children.

METHODOLOGY:

Author has not mentioned any specific methodology. This study was descriptive in nature. Must add methodology in your article. Methodology used to per research topic.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text It can be concluded that the child lablur is acute problem throughout the world, however mitigated in developed countries to some extent but in developing country the position of child labour is worst. On the international level many steps has been taken to eliminate Child Labour. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights was finally adopted by the General Assemble by a vote of 48 to nil. The Declarations has been hailed as an historic event of the profound significance and as one of the greatest achievements of the United Nations.
