Contribution Of Integrated Adult Literacy Programme On Women Economy In Awassa Administrative City

Beyene Sheleshi Mitiku

ABSTRACT:

The problem statement was clear and well articulated. The purpose of this study is to investigate the economic awareness and economic empowerment through integrated functional adult literacy program on women in Awassa administrative city in southern regional state, Ethiopia. The total sample size of the study was 166 respondents selected using simple random sampling technique from five IFAL program centers from Awassa city. 140 were women IFAL program learners and 26 were IFAL program facilitators.

INTRODUCTION:

The introduction provides a good, generalized background of the topic that quickly gives the reader an appreciation. A wide range of traditional attitude and belief hinder women from economic prosperity (Wagenr, 2000; Yosef, 2009, Lynda, 1991). In Ethiopia, gender inequalities and biases in labor markets is experienced in a variety of economic and political situations. In addition, women do not always have full control or command over their basic assets (Bedru H, 2011).

METHODOLOGY:

The present study was exclusively realized on secondary data sources. It was purely descriptive type of research since it describes the facts relating to the problem. A descriptive survey design was employed to gather the information for the research. Both primary as well as secondary source of data collecting techniques were used in the study. The primary sources were learners of the adult education program and the IFAL facilitators' of the program after their informed consent.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text. Based on the findings, the following conclusions were drawn. Regarding economic empowerment role of women IFAL program played a great role though the quality of trainers, supervisors and coordinators should improve via allocating continuous training suitable incentives and appropriate salary.

REFERENCES:

Prior publication by the author(s) of substantial portions of the data or study was appropriately acknowledged.

RELEVANCE:

The study was relevant to the mission of the journal or its audience. The study addresses important problems or issues; the study was worth doing.
